

Belgium

15 April 1945.

Florence, Sweetheart:

The enclosed editorial expresses in no uncertain terms most of the ideals for which I too am struggling over here. It seems such a simple expression of hope and thought, yet all the great nations in the world find it necessary to gather every so often to decide how to create any make-shift peace. If this time a more ideal peace is set-up, so that every one can live under the ideals expressed in this article, then the efforts of all those who suffered and died that our future may be assured will not have been in vain. You and I have done our share to make the future brighter for our boys, and the children of this and the next few generations, and I believe we will soon be able to rejoice about a job well done. It is only a matter of time before we are together again, and until that day arrives, I know we will carry on smiling thru all the way. Note that the author of this literary gem does not place any faith or credence in the efficacy of prayer. We, the people, must determine what and how we want the future world to be, and then no hesitation to bring it about. You and I not only want to be able to live and love in peace, but we desire that effort to prevail so that the future will see no more devastation, destruction, and slaughter as the past six years have brought forth.

After a most delicious meal consisting of plenty of fried chicken, potatoes, carrots, gravy, bread, coffee and fruit cocktail I spent the day out in the open fields. Not wishing to miss this report of chicken I ate at the company mess instead of at Frank's. Of course they missed my presence at the table, but then my darling, just think of the many meals I have missed being with you and Jim. It seems almost in conceivable that I've been away just about 7 months, and yet I'm sure I've forgotten you. I hope I'm at your side long before another like period rolls by. It takes plenty of determination to keep

18th Dec 1841

The enclosed contains a statement of the amount of the stock for the 1st Dec 1841 and also a list of the names of the shareholders. It is to be observed that the amount of the stock is not the same as the amount of the money paid for it, because of the discount allowed on the purchase. The amount of the money paid for the stock is £1000
and the amount of the stock is £1000 less the discount of £100, being £900. The amount of the stock is £900 and the amount of the money paid for it is £1000.

The enclosed also contains a list of the names of the shareholders. It is to be observed that the amount of the stock
is not the same as the amount of the money paid for it, because of the discount allowed on the purchase. The amount of the money paid for the stock
is £1000 and the amount of the stock
is £900.

The enclosed also contains a list of the names of the shareholders. It is to be observed that the amount of the stock
is not the same as the amount of the
money paid for it, because of the
discount allowed on the purchase. The amount of the money paid for the stock
is £1000 and the amount of the stock
is £900.

Carrying on like a good soldier in the absence of each other, but then you and I always could take it.

Although our mail is once again snafued it seems strange that Percus has not written me for several weeks. He was most prompt in his letter writing in the past, and this repeated silence has me concerned about him. I knew he has been in bad health for a long time. Naturally I am thinking that his Lake Placid trip was no holiday but a necessity. I have been writing him despite no mail from him about once every 5 or 6 days, I wrote him another V-mail to-day, but I do wish you would let me know whether or not all is all right with him or his family.

No packages this week, and as a matter of fact very little mail. However I continue the practice of a daily letter to my pretty sweetheart. Hope you and Jim are all set for the summer, but I suppose you have already advised in one of your letters en route. No doubt Jim is giving you plenty to do, and it would hardly surprise me to learn that he is now trying to learn how to drive the Car.

The war news continued extra special, and one of these days soon I expect to hear that the fanatical nazis have either all been killed or have surrendered. I prefer the former solution since this will eliminate any argument or discussion as to how the allies should dispose of them. This should be their inescapable fate.

Hope everyone at home is in excellent health and spirits and that you are not worrying too much about imaginary troubles. Stay well, honey. Kiss Jim and the folks for me. My very best to everyone, and remember I love and adore you

as ever,

George

Dear Mother
I have just received your letter of the 10th and was glad to hear from you.

I am well and hope these few lines will find you the same. I have not much news to write at present. The weather here is very warm and the crops are doing well. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present.

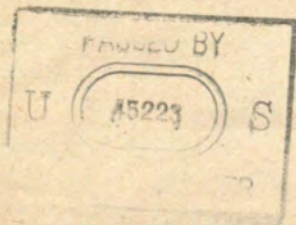

I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present.

I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present.

I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present.

I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present. I have not much news to write at present.

CPL. GEO. STOFF 42050100
Co A 735 Ry O P N Bn, APO 228
40 Postmaster, New York.

MRS. FLORENCE STOFF
3021 AVENUE I
BROOKLYN 10
NEW YORK.

A. E. Murphy

